Team Selection - All Levels

If there are more than one team at any level (B1, B, C1 or C) we will have a 6-2-1 selection process for player selection for all teams, within the rules of Connie Mack and our organizational needs for player development, as well as, fulfilling positional needs at levels that may appear at a higher level in the future. The first team (within the same level) will choose 6 players, and then the second team will choose the next 6 and after those 6 are chosen, it will move to a 2 for 2 draft, then 1 for 1 until all rosters are completed for both teams. See second page for a selection chart.

Team Selection Guidelines

- The Head Coach for each team will have the ability to name two assistant coaches. The Assistant Coach's children will be accounted for out of the first 6 players chosen.
- Head Coaches children will be accounted for as the last roster spots for the team.
- ALL Head Coaches will discuss and attempt to balance pitchers & catchers for the sake of organizational needs. If the Head coaches cannot agree, the board will select what players play on what team.
- Starting in 2010 season we will start an alphabetical process (Warrington & Warwick) for who selects first, and it will alternate each year. 2011 it will be Warwick. 2009 the following will take place: B Level – Matthews will select first, C1 Level – Crecca will select first.

Post Season Play

- The board will determine if we will have more than one tournament team entering the post season, and the team(s) participating will be chosen to play based upon the performance of the regular season and the head coaches will be chosen by the board.
- If it is going to be one team entering the post season, the chosen head coach will choose his team from the available talent across all teams available with concurrence from the board prior to announcement of the team.
- The goal of the organization is to field only one tournament team at each level, unless all teams within each level have performed above average and warrant to enter the tournament as a team.
